AMENDMENT AND RESPO

AMENDMENT

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Please amend the paragraph beginning on page 20, line 14 as follows:

-- Home-based network interface 610 represents a communications interface through which network data is transmitted and received. Home-based network interface 610 represents a device further equipped to provide data communications across harsh networking environments such as home-based phoneline networks, powerline networks and/or HomeRF networks. In such home-based networks, as well as other less controlled harsh networking environments, it is sometimes difficult to distinguish noise or echo
